Picture Message

Are you bored with standard postcards that lose their color, and curve over time? They always end up forgotten in a drawer or they just keep collecting the dust on your shelf where you hardly ever see them. Well, the Biggie Picture Message is nothing like this.

Postcard 10.0

Made from high-quality cardboard material with a real thickness that your hands admire when you are holding it, Biggie Picture Messages are a new type of postcards, with a pinch of class.

Enjoy the exclusive touch that the plexi frame is providing, which diligently holds your customized photos, and enables endless possibilities.

Always within eyesight

Remember what we told about the dusty, old, and colorless postcards, which always end up in a cluttered drawer? Don't worry, the Biggie Picture Message will never end up there. The recipients of your Biggie Message will be able to enjoy your surprise over and over again and place it on any metal surface thanks to the magnets within the product.

Do your mom and grandma love to place photos and drawings on the fridge stabilized by souvenir magnets? This shows that your Biggie Picture Message will also get the most precious place among family treasures where everyone sees it, in the heart of the house... in the kitchen.

Unleash the creativity

Have we mentioned that you not only can place your photos on the Biggie Picture box, but also draw on it, or create something unique? If you are not the creative person in the family, let your children create the DIY surprise their grandma will get for her birthday accompanied by another lovely gift.

Audio Message

Are you tired of texting long messages, but you want to share your special moments with others in a unique way that doesn't sink into oblivion after a couple of days? If your answer is Yes, then the Biggie Audio Message is for you.

This elegant and high-tech product brings your audio messages to the real world, and allows you to complete it with graphic visuals, like photos, drawings, or DIY crafts. Send it to your close friends and family members, so they can cherish that special moment too.

Convey complete audio messages without boring your recipient to death.

The storage capacity of the Biggie Audio Message is enough to record, store and play a maximum of a 30-minutes-long audio message, which is perfectly enough to convey a complete story or message from beginning to end without being too long to put a strain on the recipient's attention span.

Record your thoughts, emotions, experiences, and share these unique moments with those who truly matter to you. Let it be a story of your last adventure, a birthday greeting, or a recording of a bedside story for your kid, the Biggie Audio Message provides on-demand access to your content. You create and send the message, but the other person is in control of the time and place of playing it.

Save money and time with the chargeable battery and the aesthetically hidden cable

Don't worry about the lifespan of Biggie products. All electronically equipped pieces come with a chargeable battery and a nicely hidden USB cable, which free you from the constraints of loosely hanging, and entangled charging cables that you forget to take with you anyway when you are on the move, so you need to borrow one from someone else.

How to use the Audio Message?

Get unstuck from predefined and boring online greetings. Make your gift stand out from the crowd, by taking the time and crafting a maximum of 15-minute-long video. Then upload it to your Biggie device. Decorate the box, and send your message with special attention.

Let others enjoy your message on-demand

Allow your loved ones to listen to your lovely message over and over again, whenever and wherever they want. With the use of the handy buttons, they can start, pause, and stop your messages, thus controlling the experience all by themselves.

Don't worry about lifespan. The device comes with a chargeable battery and an aesthetically hidden USB cable, which not only makes the product better for the environment but elevates the experience of the recipient to the next level.

Do you want to respond to the message you've received? It is possible with Biggie!

Copy the original video to your computer, and upload the new one you created to the device, and send it back to the other person. This way, you can enjoy the intimacy and excitement of vintage, letter-like communication, while enjoying the flexibility and playfulness of online content creation.

Optimal screen-size and video quality, so even the worst sighted family member can see your content

The LCD screen on the front delivers high-quality video content that is enjoyable for your grandparents as well. Obviously with their glasses on :). The optimal screen-size takes this gift to the next level, as it has been created with an immense amount of care to deliver a smooth experience.

Let your friends and family place it on the fridge, the mantelpiece, their office desk, or bedside table, and enjoy your smiling face and captivating message whenever they need some happiness in their day.

Camera Message

Want to record your thoughts and experiences on the fly and send it to someone who is close to you?
You can do it now with Biggie's Camera Message.

Sending video messages online is an OK solution for communication, but they have a huge drawback. They do not stick around.

Have you ever wanted to search for a message in a messenger application, let it be audio, video, or text, but eventually you've found it's been swallowed by the endless spiral of online communication? Well, this is not what you will experience with Biggie.

A message that sticks around for years

If you have something meaningful to say and want to share it with your spouse, grandparents, children, friend, teacher, co-worker, or even your client, the Biggie Camera Message is one of the best solutions to convey and make it stick.

The Biggie Camera Message allows you to record your selfie video message without ever using your phone or computer. It records what you want to say and show, and tadaaa, your special, personalized, tangible letter is ready to send. This way, you don't have to hassle with transferring, resizing, converting, or editing video files. Just say and show what you want the others to hear, decorate the box if you wish, and send it to the recipient, so they can treasure this meaningful, captivating, and unforgettable experience.

You can be sure this gift will never land in the back of a drawer, in the corner of a room with the other "useful" Christmas and Birthday gifts.

The camera of the Biggie Camera Message is just perfect to record high-quality selfie videos that make you stand out from the background, showing your surroundings, and capturing a special moment. The LCD screen above the camera has an optimal size, so even the worst sighted family member will be able to enjoy what you want to convey. Obviously with their glasses on :).

On-demand high-quality content, which is always within the reach of your loved ones

Let those who receive the gift decide when, how, and where they want to listen to your message. Do they want to listen to it over and over again, until they learn it by heart? Or do they want to hear it once in a while to re-experience that special moment? It all depends on them. You surprise them with a heartfelt message, but they are in control of everything else.
